SBSK FOUNDER COMES TO CANADA

Visit furthers Global Acceptance Movement.

Ponte Vedra Beach, FL, March 1, 2017– We at Special Books by Special Kids, Inc. (SBSK), a US-based not-for-profit, are happy to announce that our Founder and CEO, Chris Ulmer, will be speaking at the Montreal Autism in Motion Conference and Exhibit on March 26, 2017. In addition to presenting to further our dialogue on neurodiversity, Ulmer, lovingly referred to as Mr. Chris, will be conducting interviews with community members and conference attendees as well.

SBSK aspires to normalize the diversity of the human condition by exploring experiences, perspectives, and cultural practices related to neurodiversity. International engagements such as this reflect our commitment to diversity as we work to ensure every member of the neurodiverse community sees themselves reflected in our site.

With the support and dedication of the non-profit's followers across the world, SBSK is actualizing its mission to lead a multi-media movement that spreads empathy, understanding and acceptance for neurodiverse individuals. Join us on our visit to Canada and meet the incredible individuals we connect with along the way by following us at Facebook.com/SpecialBooksbySpecialKids.

Chris Ulmer looks forward to his visit to Montreal saying,

"I am very happy to be traveling back to Canada as we continue to solidify SBSK's future as an international non-profit. Global representation and diversity are paramount to our mission. I am honored to speak to my work with Special Books by Special Kids abroad and to welcome new friends from Canada to the SBSK family".
